Conditions for passing the course: Method of evaluation: Completion by taking an examination Continuous evaluation: Final evaluation: Final examination: exam (1st part - a test and 2nd part - an oral exam). The condition for completing the course is a successful completion of the exam, which will consist of two parts: - a written test during the term (1st part of the exam); - an oral exam consisting of answering to two questions, which are published on the Department website (2nd part of the exam). The written test (1st part of the exam) will represent 50 % of the course evaluation and the maximum number of points a student can obtain for it is 10. The written test will consist of 10 questions, with only one correct answer from the three options in each question. In order for the student to proceed to the second part of the evaluation, i.e. for the oral exam, they must obtain at least 5 points from the written test. The oral exam (2nd part of the exam) will represent 50 % of the course evaluation and will consist of answering to two questions of a set of questions, which is published on the Department website. Maximum points a student can score for this part is 10. The final evaluation is the sum of the obtained points for the written test and the oral exam. Evaluation: A (20-19 points), B (18-17 points), C (16-15 points), D (14-13 points), E (12 points), FX less than 12 points. Finished: By exam.
Learning outcomes: After completing the course, the student will be able to explain the essence of the entire criminal proceedings. The student will be able to name and accurately describe the stages of criminal proceedings, their standard course, deviations in criminal proceedings and the main principles and principles applied within them. The student will be able to identify and explain the most important procedural steps of the various stages of criminal proceedings. The student will be able to explain these acts both from the position of the accused and from the position of authorities active in criminal proceedings and will also be able to name, describe and compare the rights of these entities. The student will be able to determine the most appropriate procedure in the various stages of criminal proceedings from the point of view of the accused and from the point of view of the bodies active in criminal proceedings. The student will be able to compare individual criminal institutes, explain the differences between them and decide what type of procedural institute to use to solve a particular criminal case. The student will be able to apply the procedures used in international judicial cooperation in criminal matters.
